CANADIAN CAMPING ASSOCIATION

The Canadian Camping Association was founded in 1936 as a non-profit organization. It is a national federation of provincial camping associations uniting the camping leaders into an organization involved in the growth, development and promotion of camping in Canada.

All Canadian Camping Association programs and projects are made possible by membership fees, private contributions and funds from Fitness and Amateur Sport, Government oi Canada.

The Canadian Camping Association operates a bookstore, primarily as a service to its members. Books of interest to camp directors, administrators, parents, counsellors and leaders working with children and youth in the outdoors are available in the Toronto office or may be ordered by mail or telephone.

The books handled by Canadian Camping Association are classified into broad categories and listed alphabetically with a brief description of their contents, the publisher and the price. At the end of this catalogue there are order forms and an alphabetical index.

As well as selling books from both Canadian and American sources, the Canadian Camping Association publishes a number of titles and is the distributor in Canada for books published by the American Camping Association.

SPORTS AND GAMES

Map and Compass Fundamentals Orienteering $11.95
Toy Martin & Dave Lotty

Orienteering can be described as "fun and fitness with map and compass". While fitness is important for the top orienteers, for most, the emphasis is on fun. This book demonstrates not only how orienteering can be fun, but also how an orienteering-based approach to map reading can make the learning of this skill more interesting and enjoyable.

A.H. & A.W. Reed PTY Ltd., 79 p., 1978.

(The) Second Cooperative Sports and Games Book $11.95
Terry Orlick

The second volume of the "Cooperative Sports and Games Book" is "twice as big, twice as much fun". In it Orlick introduces an entirely new round of over 200 active games for indoors and out, and for players of all ages, sizes and abilities. There are both original games and new ways to recycle such traditionally competitive sports as dodge ball or field hockey into fun-for-all challenges. There are: Special pointers on teaching cooperative skills to teenagers and adults, a chapter on games to play with toddlers, and ideas for making your own playground equipment.

Random House of Canada, Limited, 267 p., 1982.

Humber College Press, 193 p., 1981.

Outdoor Living Skills:
The Outdoor Living Skills Program is the American Camping Association's internationally known program for teaching successful outdoor living based upon the knowledge, skills and attitudes acquired only through actual experience in progressive stages. Integral parts of the program are the promotion of the understanding and appreciation of the beauty of the natural world, the wise use of natural resources, the application of health and safety practices and a sense of achievement and fellowship.

Since the entire OLS Course can only be taught by ACA certified OLS instructors, the usefulness of the following two books can only be that of reference manuals.

Instructor's Manual $6.25
An outline by which a certified instructor can teach the OLS program. The purposes and objectives of the program are covered along with teaching plans for the topics in the checklist. ACA, 81 p., 1979.

Guide for the Director of OLS Instructors $4.00
Serves as a reference tool: what to do, when to do it, and is a stimulus in developing the content and methods to be used in an instructor workshop. ACA 12 p., 1980.

LEGACY TO A CAMPER

If I had the power to make this will,
I would bequeath to you
The child-like sense of wonder
To last the long year through.

Wonder - the gift of magic sight,
To see with eager eyes
Each miracle of beauty
In forest, lake and skies.

The scarlet flames of autumn,
The tender shades of spring,
The luna moth unfolding
Her gossamer green wing.

The scarlet flames of autumn,
The crescent moon swung low,
The sunset from a hilltop,
The firelight's ruddy glow.

A legacy of wonder!
Could you but guess its worth?
No other precious dower
Would so transform the earth.

Wonder enough to squander
On every glad surprise,
For every golden morning,
For every new emprise.

If I had the power to make this will,
I would bequeath to you
The child-like sense of wonder
To last the long year through.

Mary S. Edgar,
Honourary President,
Canadian Camping Association
1960 - 1973

This poem and many more will appear in our newest publication, Legacy to a Camper, by Jocelyn Palm. This book of program ideas and poems for quiet times at camp will be available in Spring 1983.

COOKBOOKS

Cookery for Kids, Kamp n' Kicks $4.00
Helen E. Stewart

An anthology of recipes used extensively at Camp Wahcahmie in Ontario. Tremendous results can be obtained by multiplying these recipes for 6 to 8 servings by the required number. Aside from delicious ideas for main courses, desserts, snacks, there is a section on outdoor cookery and two weeks of sample menus.

Helen E. Stewart, 81 p., 1969.

Cookout Manual $3.00
Sue Whitney

Developed especially for Day Camp Cookouts, this manual provides some new and exciting ideas for both small and large cookouts. The recipes have been divided into six major groups according to Canada's Food Guide. There are 35 tested recipes.

Borough of Etobicoke, Parks and Recreation, 24 p., 1979.

Kinhaven Cookbook $10.00
John Ahern

The alternate title is: How We Feed 120 People. Delightfully written, the cookbook from Kinhaven Music School in Vermont combines the practical know-how gleaned from years of experience in feeding 120 people three times a day with warm, friendly instructions and advice to anyone who cooks for large groups. It is written by and for amateur cooks and the recipes are in detail and very workable for a kitchen which operates without a great deal of expensive equipment. An appendix shows menus of two typical weeks, a list of minimal equipment, and sample order forms. A practical kitchen manual - and one which you will enjoy reading.

The Kinhaven Music School, 119 p., 1977.

(The) Kitchen Makes the Camp Go 'Round $5.00

Laurie A. MacIntosh dedicates his book to all other cooks preparing good food for others at camp, as well as to the memory of all the good times he had at camp . . . "most of them spent in the kitchen". He knows that summer camp revolves around good fun, good times and most of all good food. These recipes can all be prepared by either first time cooks or an experienced chef. The amounts given to yield 50 portions are sufficient to feed groups of children up to the age of 14 or 15. There is a section on using leftovers, a metric conversion table, and a list of the weights of common foods.

Laurie A. MacIntosh, 87 p., 1981.

Wanapitei Canoe Trippers' Cookbook $5.95
Carol Hodgins

"Wilderness cooking for fun and nutrition" is the subtitle of this informative book of recipes. It has evolved from the experiences of Mrs. Hodgins and the staff of Wanapitei, a wilderness canoeing camp on Lake Temagami, Ontario. As well as many pages of delicious recipes, there are sections on nutrition, types and quantities of food, cost, packing, preparation and cooking and many other suggestions to make this important part of any canoe trip a success.

Highway Book Shop, 87 p., 1982.

(The) Well-Fed Backpacker $5.25

June Fleming, a veteran backpacker, explains how one can eat well on the trail, winter, summer, spring and fall. Beginning with nutritional needs, she goes on to how to buy and prepare food in advance, how to package it most efficiently, how to cook outdoors on an open fire or portable stove and how to supplement your diet with wild foods gathered on route. There are recipes for breakfast, lunch and dinner, for snacks you can take along and for emergency foods.

Vintage Books (Random House), 111 p., 1981.

CRAFTS

(The) Book of Arts and Crafts $4.50
Marguerite Ickis and Reba S. Esh

CAMP COUNSELOR AND PROGRAM SPECIALIST TRAINING SERIES

Edited by Dennis A. Vinton and Elizabeth M. Farley

The camp counsellor and program specialist program has been written to provide basic skills, knowledge, and behaviours needed for working in a camp. The training program is oriented to field application and features individualization of learning experiences. Each of the modules contains a checklist of performance objectives, a pretest, learning activities, post-test, and answer sheets for the tests. The objectives, learning activities, and evaluation methods focus on the specific duties which the camp counsellor or program specialist does on the job. Although the program can be used in a variety of ways - as a college course, institute, or workshop, or as pre-camp training - the emphasis is always on the practical application of learning in a camp setting. The booklets are bound, 8 1/2 x 11, three-hold punched.

1. (An) Orientation to Camping and the Camp, 119 p.	$8.00

SPORTS AND GAMES

(The) Cooperative Sports and Games Book $9.50
Terry Orlick

Players of every size, shape, age and ability will delight in this lively collection of over one hundred new games based on the idea of cooperation, not competition. Included as well are examples of cooperative games played round the world; games designed specifically for special education classes; and ideas for creating an endless variety of cooperative games on one's own. Wonderfully versatile, these games can be played indoors or out, in classrooms, on playgrounds, in swimming pools or in gymnasiums. There are no complicated rules, no equipment more elaborate than a ball, mat or net.

Random House of Canada Limited, 129 p., 1976.

Creative Growth Games $8.50
Eugene Raudsepp and George P. Hough, Jr.

The authors of this book offer a challenge to think in different ways by presenting seventy-five stimulating games designed to test and expand one's creative powers and problem solving abilities. These games - numerical, verbal and spatial - are designed to increase perception and imaginative potential.

The Putnam Group, 195 p., 1977.

Games for Grownups $5.75
Marguerite Kohl and Frederica Young

This collection of 162 games for adults and teenagers starts with a chart telling how many players and what equipment is needed; how long the game will take, and if it is an active or quiet game.

Simon and Shuster, 175 p., 1951.

(The) Handbook of Recreational Games $3.50
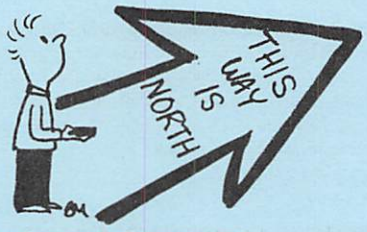
Neva L. Boyd

Eighteen categories of games - pursuit and escape, hopping and jumping, throwing and catching, bouncing ball, throwing at a mark, intellectual, etc. Rules for common and uncommon games that are played by children everywhere.

Dover Publications, Inc., 128 p., 1973.



Map and Compass Fundamentals Orienteering $11.95
Toy Martin and Dave Lotty

Orienteering can be described as "fun and fitness with a map and compass". While fitness is important for the top orienteerers, for most the emphasis is on fun. This book demonstrates, not only how orienteering can be fun, but also how an orienteering-based approach to map reading can make the learning of this skill more interesting and enjoyable.

A.H. & A.W. Reed PTY Ltd., 79 p.

More Creative Growth Games $6.95
Eugene Raudsepp

Eugene Raudsepp in the sequel to Creative Growth Games combines provocative fun with daring instruction. This entire new set of 75 games and exercises help one discover his/her creative capacities and problem solving abilities. There are visual exercises to expand persistence, concentration and originality; fantasy games to free the images stifled in the unconscious and elaborate mind teasers to unleash new ways of thinking.

Putnam Publishing Group, 201 p., 1980.

More New Games and Playful Ideas from The New Games Foundation $8.95
Edited by Andrew Fluegelman

More New Games picks up where the best selling New Games left off, with rules for 60 new games, new approaches to participation and winning, essays on game creation and adaptation, a capsule version of New Games training and an expanded and updated resource guide to publications, organizations, and equipment.

Doubleday, 190 p., 1981.

(The) New Game Book $9.95
Andrew Fluegelman, Editor

"Play hard, play fair, nobody hurt" is the motto of New Games. This is a collection of games old and new and borrowed from traditional favourites - with a new approach. Delightfully written and illustrated with charming pictures the games are explained in specific and easily followed instructions.

Doubleday, 193 p., 1977.

(The) Second Cooperative Sports and Games Book $11.95
Terry Orlick

The second volume of the Cooperative Sports and Games Book is "twice as big and twice as much fun." In it, Orlick introduces an entirely new round of over 200 active games for indoors and out, and for players of all ages, sizes and abilities. There are both original games and new ways to recycle such traditionally competitive sports as dodge ball or field hockey into fun-for-all challenges. There are: special pointers on teaching cooperative skills to teenagers and adults, a chapter on games to play with toddlers, ideas for making your own playground equipment.

Random House of Canada, Limited, 267 p., 1982.

TRIPPING

Basic River Canoeing $5.00
Robert E. McNair

The complete manual of white water canoeing. Begins where flat water canoeing books end; it describes simply and concisely how and why the components of wild water, canoe, and paddle equal high adventure.

American Camping Association, 104 p., 1969.

Canoe Routes of British Columbia $6.95
Richard and Rochelle Wright

A where-to rather than a how-to manual, this book is a comprehensive guide to the water courses in British Columbia. Although it is written with the canoeist in mind, some of the data will be useful to rafters and kayakers; however, the routes have been included only if some part of the route is used for canoeing.

Douglas & McIntyre, 176 p., 1980.

Canoe Routes of Ontario $9.95

This guide, written in cooperation with the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources is a guide to well over 100 canoe routes in the province. It gives enough information to allow one to select a route and then directs one to write to the appropriate district office of the Ministry to ask for further literature on that route including the identification numbers of topographical maps, etc. also available from the Ministry.

McClelland & Stewart, 110 p., including one large map, 1981.

Canoe Routes of the Yukon Territory $6.95
Richard and Rochelle Wright

Richard and Rochelle Wright have attempted to do for the Yukon what their earlier book Canoe Routes of British Columbia did for B.C. They are the first to admit that this book does not tell the complete story of the water routes of the Yukon. . . they hope the gathering process will continue for some time and will be reflected in future editions.

Douglas & McIntyre, 112 p., 1980.

Canoe Travel Handbook $6.50

A check list of guidelines for those planning a safe canoe trip, prepared by the Canoe Travel Committee of the Canadian Recreational Canoeing Association with the assistance of Fitness and Amateur Sport.

46 p., 1981.

Guide to Canoe Camping $5.50
D. Bruce Johnstone

From his long-time experience in camping in the canoe country of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Canada, the author has provided a detailed handbook of information on canoe tripping. He includes information on planning, suggested trips, paddling and strokes, food and camping supplies, canoe travelling, portaging, and campsites and making camp. The final chapter contains valuable tips gleaned from his travels. An excellent manual for a leader planning a canoe trip or as a resource for a camp canoe tripping program.

American Camping Association, 64 p., 1980.

River Camping $14.95
Verne Huser

Paradoxically, as the popularity of river camping increases, it also introduces problems that can diminish the future enjoyment of our waterways, by urging responsible camping and emphasizing the prevention of the despoilation of rivers and their banks. Mr. Huser goes beyond most books on river running. He examines the river as a resource and then goes on to choice of craft, rigging, food, clothing, shelter, techniques, clean-up, safety and more.

Douglas & McIntyre, 160 p., 1981.

When the Wilderness Beckons $6.95
Catherine Ross, Debbie Hutton and Pamela Dunbar

Three very experienced leaders of canoe tripping programs at summer camps have combined to write this handbook for small groups and families who may have never received formal instruction. There is a chapter on Canoeing Skills with illustrations of basic strokes; one on Planning; on Packing; a well illustrated section on Portaging; one on Camp Skills and Safety; and Emergencies. The information and practical suggestions offered should guarantee a safe, comfortable experience. Now into its second printing.

Highway Book Shop, 105 p., 1982.

WATERFRONT

Concise Book of Sailing $2.98
Terry Brown and Rob Hunter

A book for beginning and first-year dinghy sailors. It covers all the knowledge, practical and theoretical, necessary to simplify the early days in sail. Apart from the advice on technique, the book also covers boat purchase, where to sail, knots, first aid, safety, rules of the road and boat handling; a useful book for people of all ages.

Gage Publishing Company Limited, 64 p., 1977.

Let's Go Windsurfing $8.95

The techniques of this fast growing sport are detailed in this manual about board sailing.

Doubleday Canada Ltd.

Path of the Paddle $24.95
Bill Mason

This book covers all key areas of canoeing, equipment, basic and advanced paddling techniques, how to read various water conditions, anticipating and avoiding serious problems and much more. Using over 500 illustrations, including drawings, black and white and brilliant colour photographs, Bill Mason has captured the rough elegance of canoeing. A comprehensive and lavishly illustrated instructional guide for both novice and expert.

Hardcover, Van Nostrand Reinhold, 160 p., 1980.

(A) Small Boat Sailor's Bible $5.95
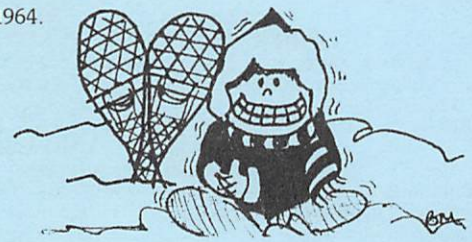
Hervey Garrett Smith

A complete guide to buying, maintaining, and sailing small sailboats, with over 100 drawings and photographs.

Doubleday, 147 p., 1964.



WINTER CAMPING

Concise Book of Winter Camping $2.95
Terry Brown and Rob Hunter

Given the right equipment and techniques, the competent camper can continue to enjoy the outdoors throughout the year. This illustrated book explains how to augment a summer scale or gear up to a winter standard, what to buy when starting from scratch, how to cope with cold, wind and snow.

Gage Publishing Company, Limited, 63 p., 1978.

Ski Camping $3.95
Ron Watters

This book contains advice on how to keep warm and comfortable while skiing and camping in the backcountry. It is also about self-reliance in that backcountry, which means being prepared with the right equipment and the right clothing and using good judgement. Illustrated with many black and white photographs, it excites one with all the delightful aspects of cross-country skiing and snow camping.

Douglas & McIntyre, 154 p., 1979.

Snowshoeing $8.95
Gene Prater

Recreational snowshoeing is a fast-growing economical sport that liberates the winter hiker from the confines of surfaced roads and cities. This book provides up-to-the-minute information on equipment, physical conditioning and techniques.

The Mountaineers, 171 p., 1980.

WOODSMANSHIP AND CAMPING

(The) L.L. Bean Guide to the Outdoors $19.50
Bill Riviere with the staff of L.L. Bean

An authoritative and useful guide to getting on comfortably and safely in the woods. It tells all one needs to know about choosing and using clothing and footwear, weather forecasting, backpacks, sleeping bags, canoes, cross-country skis, snowshoes, knives and axes, compasses and maps. There are charts on everything from wind chill factors and canoe weights to ski waxes and comparative heat values of different kinds of woods. A matchless source of information on outdoor equipment.

Hardcover, Random House, 384 p., 1981.

Bicycle Camping $9.95
Diana Armstrong

The third volume in the trio of manuals that include, River Camping and Ski Camping, this all-round guide will help to prepare for a bicycle camping trip. It covers route planning, packing, fitness, bike selection, repairs AND camping. It anticipates the variables of weather, road conditions, traffic and accidents.

Douglas & McIntyre, 160 p., 1981.

(The) Campcraft Book $5.50
Catherine T. Hammett

A revised and updated version of the original Your Own Book of Campcraft first published in 1950. Prepared as a guide to teenage girls and boys for their first camping experience, the book has been widely used as a background book for ACA's Outdoor Living Skills course. A handy, authoritative source on campcraft skills, the book will be of practical value to anyone, young or old, who wants to go camping for the first time.

American Camping Association, 160 p., 1980.

The Complete Woodsman $4.95
Paul Provencher

An invaluable book for the serious woodsman. The author includes more than 100 of his own illustrations, and gives practical instructions on how to make wigwams, rafts, mocassins, toboggans, emergency boats, bows and arrows, sleds, sun goggles and fire by friction. Also featured are instructions on how to tell directions by the stars, a watch, by shadows, by sun; how to hunt, fish and trap; how to find edible plants and how to prepare food in the bush; how to pack and travel in summer and winter.

Habitex Books, 225 p., 1974.

Emergency/Survival Handbook $3.95
Robert E. Brown

A hip pocket size book of emergency procedures for anyone at home, office, camp, boat or bush. In addition to providing information, the orange cover can be used as a highly visible signalling device, it is also wax impregnated to serve as a fire starter; the mylar centrefold can also be used for signalling or as a light intensifier or mirror. Comes in a waterproof pouch-pack.

American Outdoor Safety League, 45 p., 1979.

Home in Your Pack $3.95
Bradford Angier

This how-to-do-it manual details places to go, the kinds of packs and equipment to take, clothes to wear and pack and trail recipes.

Collier-MacMillan, 202 p., revised 1972.

How to Stay Alive in the Woods $3.95
Bradford Angier

Now in its 14th printing, this complete guide to food, shelter, and self-preservation that makes starvation in the wilderness next to impossible. It shows, in 26 clearly written, illustrated chapters, how you can find food, water, warmth, and shelter when you're lost or stranded.

Collier-MacMillan, 286 p., 1956.

Lightweight Camping $8.95
Michael Hatton

"A Four Season Source Book." This book is intended to promote the wise use and understanding of the most up-to-date technical skills and equipment available, in order to experience the outdoors. There are chapters on insulation and the concept of layered dressing, map and compass skills, diet and nutrition, emergency care, equipment and its selection, planning and route selection as well as an outline of the difference between a survival situation and a camping trip.

Humber College Press, 193 p., 1981.

(Le) Manuel du Coureur des Bois $6.00
le Professeur Kirk A. Wipper

Ce manuel était fait pour les Ecoles Nationales des Coureurs des Bois. Les sujets principaux inclus sont: le mouvement "impact minimum" en camping, le "leadership", et le programme de plein-air (le randonné pedestre, le camping sauvage, la cuisine de plein-air, etc.). Le Code du Coureur de Bois, aussi inclus, donnera au lecteur les choses que les campeurs doivent suivre pour conserver notre monde naturel.

L'Association des Camps du Canada/Canadian Camping Association, 155 p., 1979.

(The) New Way of the Wilderness $3.95
Calvin Rutstrum

Written by a veteran outdoorsman who has made annual trips by canoe, pack horse, and dog sled into the wilderness for nearly 50 years, this reference book includes professional woodsman's experience-tested methods of exploring, camping, and surviving in the wilderness. Selection of equipment, checklists for one-day and one-month trips, backpacking afoot, canoe travel, pack-horse methods and equipment, orienteering, hunting for food, and wilderness cooking are all included.

Collier MacMillan, 280 p., 1958.

Outdoor Living Skills
The Outdoor Living Skills Program is the American Camping Association's internationally known program for teaching successful outdoor living based upon the knowledge, skills and attitudes acquired only through actual experience in progressive stages. Integral parts of the program are the promotion of understanding and appreciation of the beauty of the natural world, the wise use of natural resources, the application of health and safety practices and a sense of achievement and fellowship. Since the entire OLS Course can only be taught by ACA certified OLS instructors, the usefulness of the following two books can only be that of reference manuals.

Instructor's Manual $6.25

An outline by which a certified instructor can teach the OLS program. The purposes and objectives of the program are covered along with teaching plans for the topics in the check list.

American Camping Association, 81 p., 1979.

Guide for the Director of OLS Instructors $4.00

Serves as a reference tool: what to do, when to do it, and is a stimulus in developing the content and methods to be used in an instructor workshop.

American Camping Association, 12 p., 1980.

Woodsmanship Leaders' Guide $6.00
Professor Kirk A. Wipper

An outgrowth of the CCA/ACC National Woodsmanship Leaders' Schools, this 8 1/2 x 11, three hold punched manual contains a wealth of outdoor educational and recreational information. Three major components have been included: an exploration of the land ethic; a compendium of ideas on the theme of leadership; and finally, a set of practical materials on land pursuits. As well as providing up-to-date treatment of camping, hiking, back-packing and navigational skills for camp leaders it presents the Woodsman's Code a list of thirty-three points anyone using the wilderness should obey in order to make a minimum impact there. This publication was made possible by a contribution from Fitness and Amateur Sport, Government of Canada.

Canadian Camping Association/Association des Camps du Canada, 155 p., 1979.
